COURSE INFORMATION

► Be Development Ready

So what is your plan? Property Development is like any business activity, whether it is for a 'single one-off' project or you are looking to make a career out of property development, you need to have a plan to succeed.

This session looks at addressing all the issues to you need look at prior to entering into any property development transaction including:

- Understand your Business Model
What's your plan? Are you an active or passive developer? Are you looking to establish a brand?
- Asset Protection
'Get your House in order' before embarking on a project. Protect your personal assets from the risk of the property development, including estate planning considerations
- Understand the Risk
Assess the various types of risk in property development and understand your level of acceptable risk
- Structures
Understand the various structures available
Special Purpose Vehicles (SPVs)
Structuring for:
  - flexibility
  - Investors
  - Outcomes
  - Service Entities

► Legal Documentation

The legal documentation is often one of the areas in property development that is given the least thought. Many developers seek out legal advisors based on costs rather than their expertise. It is only usually once you reach a hurdle in a project that a developer realises the importance of good legal documentation.

In this session we have one of Melbourne's leading legal advisors to private property developers that will be presenting on the various type of legal agreements in property development, what should and shouldn't be included in these agreements and when they should be used;

- Pre-Purchase Advice
- Common Ownership structures
- Contracts of Sale (acquisition)
- Nomination and land development
- Finance

COURSE INFORMATION

- Relationship agreements: Unitholder Agreement, Shareholder Agreement, Development/JV Agreements
- Profit sharing/economic entitlement
- Landholder duty
- Partitions of land
- Contract of sale: terms and special conditions, off the plan sales, sunset clauses etc.
- Sale of land vendor disclosure
- S173 Agreements
- Advertising and settlement tips
- Tricks and Traps

► Research your Market

Some developers often have a concept in mind for their development but often don't consider if the development actually has a market in the area they are looking to develop.

In this session we have some leading experts in market research and sales and marketing of property development projects that will help you to better understand;

- Your product
- Who your market is
- Research data available
- The current Melbourne market
- Marketing trends for projects
- Effective sales strategies
- Understand how Channel sales are used to support financial close

► Financing the Project

Having a great project and equity is only the start. You still need to finance the project which can often be difficult without a solid track record of property development. Understanding the general finance terms and conditions are essential and are particularly important in the financial feasibility stage when preparing your cash flows, financial ratios, time frames and equity levels.

Assisting to present this session will be a leading expert in property development financing and will address such issues as:

- Development financing terms and conditions
- Minimum Financial ratios for the project
- Issues around guarantees
- Alternate financing solutions
- Benchmark interest rates and charges
- How to best present the project for financing

► Finding Development Sites

Having a process and a good team can help you make sure you are selecting sites that are going to work, and also allows you to explore different development options for those sites.

In this session we talk through the consideration when selecting a site including:

- Policy, zoning and overlays
- Early site assessments
- Tools and resources for gathering data and information

► Tax, GST and Project Completion

So you are coming to the end of your project but what are the main areas that you need address to wrap up the project?

In this session we will look at:

- Record Keeping and Reporting
- Taxation considerations including GST, the margin scheme, income tax and CGT issues, stamp duty
- Settlement related issues and risks
- Winding Up development entities

► Finding a Site and Case Study

Developer John Spurigan of MILA Development Group will use actual developments as live case studies and talk through how he found the sites, and multiple options that had to be explored to arrive at the optimal use of the sites.

- Site Selection
- Development Options
- Decision Making

► Attracting Investors

The key to getting any project off the ground is actually being able to have the equity to get started. Many developers new to the industry often look to commence their projects with very no or little money and therefore rely heavily on raising equity through investors. Without 'the runs on the board' it is often difficult for a developer to attract investors and give them the confidence of your ability to deliver a project.

In this sessions we will cover off:

- Alternative ways to structure a deal to attract investors to your project.
- How to present the deal to potential investors
- Understanding the needs of your targeted investors
- Issues surrounding licensing requirements with promoting to investors

► Due Diligence and Feasibility

Before making the decision to commit to any project, every property developer needs a sound process of completing their due diligence and conducting a financial feasibility to make sure that the project 'stacks up'. This is an area that many get completely wrong particularly newer developers that don't pay respect to effort required at this stage.

It is crucial that any financial feasibility is not just a one page document that is based around general rules of thumb and proper consideration is made to factors such as:

- Risk and reward
- Timing of events and payments
- Various federal and taxes
- Authority contributions and bonds
- Cash flow planning
- Investors' expectations
- Financial ratios required for debt funding
- Corporate governance.
- Contingencies
- Variance analysis

► Project Delivery

Project delivery refers to the process of successfully completing and implementing a project from initiation to completion.

It involves coordinating and managing various elements, such as resources, timelines, budgets, and teams, to ensure that the project's goals and objectives are met. Effective project delivery requires strategic planning, efficient execution, and the ability to adapt to unforeseen challenges.

In this session we will look at:

- Identifying and managing project risks
- Creating and managing your project team
- Tendering and appointing a builder
- Managing the building process
- The secrets to handover and settlements

► Avoiding settlement issues, and off the plan sales

Double stamp duties refer to a situation where a buyer is required to pay stamp duty twice for the same transaction. This often occurs when there is a change in the ownership structure or when there are errors in the transfer documents.

Double stamp duty issues can arise in various situations, such as when a property is transferred from a company to an individual or from one individual to another. The stamp duty is typically paid on the transfer of ownership, but if there is a change in the ownership structure, such as the transfer of shares in a company that owns the property, then stamp duty may also be payable on the transfer of the shares. This can result in the payment of double stamp duty.

In this session we will look at:

- Investing your deposits
- Nominating may mean double stamp duty
- Stamp duty your purchases will pay
- GST Withholding
- Sunset clauses
- Issues that cause problems at settlement
